2. In spite of the general tenor that such trips could not be beneficially combined, [redacted] said that Army had consolidated the scheduling so that both [redacted] surveys were conducted jointly. [redacted] said this was accomplished through managerial decisions, placing one officer in charge of both issues. The simultaneous inspections are meeting with great customer acceptance and was done, in fact, at customer request.

STATINTL

3. [redacted] requested this status of the Army surveys be noted in the record.
